Pecking Order

By Hilary Spiers

© Hilary Spiers, 2011

CAST

Kate, late 20s, charity worker, Lucy, late 20s/early 30s, political researcher, Kate's university friend Audrey, 50s, northerner, currently working in a nursing home Veronica, 50s, Home Counties, Kate's mother Claire, late 20s, commercial lawyer, Kate's childhood friend Maitre d', French with impeccable English* Józef, waiter, Polish (Some English)* Jakub, masseur, Polish (Józef's brother) (No English)* Benoît, sommelier, French, adequate English but heavily accented* *(All four men are played by the same actor)

SCENE 1 Friday afternoon. 5.30pm. The Hedonista Spa Hotel

A ladies' loo at the Hedonista Spa Hotel. Kate is in the loo, Lucy drying her hands. She is in jeans with a provocative political T-shirt. They are in mid-conversation.

LUCY	Oh great! You might have warned me!
KATE (O/S)	How was I to know? Why didn't you say something at the time?
LUCY	Yeah, like I'm going to spend the weekend at yours and then start slagging off your mother -
KATE (O/S)	Was she rude to you? Really? I mean?

The loo flushes. Kate emerges. She is dressed fairly conventionally in jeans etc. Her T-shirt is very slightly too tight

LUCY	Rude! Hon, people like your mum are far too clever to actually be rude to your face.
KATE	(Starting to wash her hands, looking at herself in the mirror) Oh, God. I really don't need this at the moment. Not with everything else – Oh, look at me -
LUCY	Did you invite her or did she invite herself?
KATE	Is that a spot? I invited her. Well, Claire did. Give me some credit.
LUCY	Why? Your mother – for reasons that escape me - reduces you to a state of complete catatonia. Why is that?

Lucy starts to move towards the door

KATE	I don't know! Hang on a minute. (She starts rummaging in her bag) Mothers and daughters. Whatever.
LUCY	No, I don't know. What? (Kate holds up lipgloss in triumph and starts applying it) A gibbering bloody wreck. If you were like this in your work
KATE	Don't start! Oh, this is going to be a great weekend, isn't it? You and my mother at each other's –
LUCY	No, we won't. I shall remain calm and serene –
KATE	Yeah, right –
LUCY	 however provoking she is. I'm only saying you've got to stand up to her for once –
KATE	Like how?
LUCY	You're 28, Kate! It's pathetic. God knows why we have to go through this whole bloody –
KATE	What?
LUCY	This weekend. I mean, why do you have to get married anyway?
KATE	How many times? Because we want to, OK?
LUCY	I just don't see the point – plus it costs a bloody fortune.

- KATE Tell me about it. Anyway, she's in for a surprise too, Mummy. She knows about you but not Audrey.
- LUCY What about her?
- KATE She's coming too.
- LUCY Audrey?
- KATE Yeah.
- LUCY You've invited ... to your hen do? You're kidding.
- KATE No.
- LUCY Kate Pargetter, I'm almost impressed.
- KATE (Now applying mascara) See.
- LUCY Does she know about your Mum?
- KATE Audrey? Not exactly ...
- LUCY Bloody hell. Kate! Audrey and Veronica!
- KATE Yeah. Might take the pressure off a bit. Might even be a laugh. Don't you think? Is this top too -
- LUCY No.(The top) A laugh? Bloodbath, more like. Margot Leadbetter and Catherine Cookson.
- KATE It won't.
- LUCY With your mother? Black belt in class warfare?
- KATE (laughing as they move through to the foyer. Hubbub of a busy hotel) You are horrible. What about you? Look at that T-shirt – oh, she'll love that. Anyway, it was Cal's idea.
- LUCY Oh. Might have guessed. What's wrong with it? (The T-shirt) Are we having a drink or what? Jesus, this is going to be one hell of a weekend
- KATE Can we get one here?
- LUCY It's a hotel, dumbo. With a bar? Oh, and a word to the wise. Or in your case, the completely bloody stupid don't rub her nose in it.
- KATE What d'you mean? Who? Oh there she is! Audrey! Audrey! Over here –

Audrey arrives. She is in her 50s, ordinary, friendly, in a mac. She's looking a bit dishevelled. She has a northern accent, which she plays up from time to time, especially when telling one of her stories

AUDREY	(To the unseen maitre d') No, it's OK, thanks. I've found them. Hello, loveys! Well, this is very nice!
KATE	(Kissing her) You made it. Yeah, it's great, isn't it?
LUCY	Audrey! This is a turn-up.
AUDREY	(Kissing her) Did this one not say I was coming?
LUCY	No she didn't. Full of surprises, our Kate.
KATE	Come on, Audrey, let's sit you down. You look shattered.
AUDREY	I am. (As they sit) Cup of tea, that's what I need. (Looking at Lucy)
	Look at you. Where did you find that? (The T-shirt) By, but you've lost weight! You'll blow away if you're not careful.

KATE	Wish I would.
LUCY	Oh, don't start! For God's sake shut her up, Audrey.
AUDREY	No, you're bonny, love. Isn't she, Lucy? Just right.
KATE	I know what bonny means. I don't want to be bonny! I want to be bony.
AUDREY	No you don't. What's a lad to get hold of?
KATE	Do you think this top's too tight, Audrey? Lucy won't -
LUCY	Kate, once and for all, it is not too tight!
KATE	(Pulling at it) You're just saying that. It is. It is, isn't it, Audrey?
LUCY	Ignore her.

Maitre d' appears at Audrey's side, looking affronted

M d' AUDREY KATE M d' AUDREY	May I help you, madam? I daresay. In a bit. This is very nice, this. This is one of our party. Ah. I see. Of course. Enjoy your stay, madam. (He goes) What's his problem, eh? Like a bulldog chewing a wasp. Ooh, tea, though, I could murder a cup.
LUCY	(Calling out) Excuse me? Could we have some tea?
M d'	(Returning) Certainly madam. For three?
KATE	Yes, I'll have one as well. Luce?
LUCY	Tea? Bloody Nora, Kate. Tea?!
KATE	You have a drink if you want one. I just fancy a cup of tea all of a sudden.
LUCY	I thought this was supposed to be oh, OK. Tea for three, please.
M d'	What sort of tea, madam?
AUDREY	Builder's for me, ta.
LUCY	And me. (M d' looks confused) English Breakfast?
KATE	(To Lucy and Audrey) Anything else? Something to eat?
M d'	We have scones, fruit cake -
AUDREY	No, no, I'm saving myself.
KATE	(Tempted) Ooh scones you sure? (They are) Oh well. Just tea, then. Thanks.
M d'	Very good. Tea for three. (He goes)
AUDREY	(Looking round) Very posh. Ooh, I'm that hot. Am I late?
KATE	No, no
AUDREY	Held up at work, I was. Thought I'd miss my train. Plus it came on to rain just as I left. You'd never know, but I had my hair done yesterday. Now look at it. (She struggles out of her coat. She is wearing a nylon tabard. As her story unfolds, the girls start laughing) Ooh, it's good to get the weight off. I've been that busy today. Lost one of them this morning, would you believe it – someone left the side door open and old Ethel was off. Whipping round the gates, just as a bloody bus pulls up, so muggins here goes haring off after her. On she clambers and starts ferreting around in her drawers, looking for her purse I suppose. She keeps saying 'I only want a half, I'm not 12 'til February'. There's a bit of an argy-bargy with her for a minute or two, couple of passengers shouting the odds and then all of a sudden she says, 'Are we going or what?', scuttles off onto the pavement and starts charging off towards town. Driver shuts the door quick to stop her changing her mind and off he zooms. So, any road up, I grab her arm, and manage to persuade her we've time for a cuppa back home before the next bus. 'Course I'm on tenterhooks, in case she bolts – I mean she's no lightweight, is Ethel, like a bloody tank once she gets going - but suddenly she links arms with me like we're best mates off on a jaunt. After that, she's as good as gold, rabbiting away about this and that and I get her back inside. Sighs of relief all round. Bless her heart, she's no trouble really, but one sniff of an open door and she's off like a greyhound, 16 stone and double hip replacements or not. So. How are you both?

Maitre d' comes over with a tray of tea. Notices Audrey's tabard. Looks aghast. Audrey doesn't notice.

KATE	(Still laughing) Thank you.
M d'	May I…? (He goes to pour)
AUDREY	No, no, lad, let it stand. Give the bugger a chance. It'll be as weak as –
KATE	Thanks, we'll sort ourselves out. (He leaves) We're really good, thanks, Audrey. Aren't we, Luce?
AUDREY	Glad to hear it. What you been up to then, the pair of you?
LUCY	Oh, nothing much.
AUDREY	Oh, come on! At your age! Only six weeks to go -
KATE	I know. Don't remind me. Anyway, never mind the wedding - Lucy's got some news.
AUDREY	Oh, that's more like it. Come on, all the gossip.
LUCY	Oh, it's nothing.
KATE	She's got a new job.
AUDREY	Have you? Not a partnership!
KATE	Go on, Luce, tell her.
LUCY	l've given it up.
AUDREY	What?
LUCY	The law. I've given it up.
AUDREY	You never have!
LUCY	I have. At last.
KATE	Parliamentary researcher. Can you believe it?
LUCY	Yeah. Oldest one in living memory.
AUDREY	Well, I never.
LUCY	l know.

AUDREY	No, no, not that I'm surprised. Not really. Oh, but love, does that mean
LUCY AUDREY LUCY AUDREY	 Yeah. London. There's trains, love. Oh, but London! Who you working for? Need you ask? Well, about time too. All those years of volunteering. But that is good news! Pat'll be dead chuffed, I can tell you. Well done, lovey! See you elected yourself before very long.
LUCY AUDREY	Dream on. I will. A double celebration then, this weekend. Ooh, this is the life, eh! Been looking forward to this, I have. Told the girls at work: I'm going to a hen do. My daughter-in-law's. Thought I was joking. When they found out I wasn't, they thought you were barking. They said, what about the stripper –
KATE AUDREY	Audrey, there's not going to be a stripper! Last time I saw one – Vera Potter's leaving do – put me right off my dinner. Honest to God, you should have seen the size of it – shall I be mother? –
LUCY	Audrey!
AUDREY	Give over. Your mum'll be here as well, will she?
	Oh yes. Lady Veronica. She'll be here.
KATE AUDREY	Stop it. Yes, my mother's coming. Now listen up, our Lucy. We'll have no politics this weekend. No arguments. You hear me?
LUCY	Yes, ma'am.
AUDREY	I'm serious. This is Kate's do, this weekend. So you just behave yourself. Mind, I'm a bit you know, myself.
LUCY	A bit what?
AUDREY	You know! Just tell me to shut up if I run on. Always do that when I'm nervous. Ask Pat. Ask Lucy, come to that. (Pouring herself a cup of tea) Oh! Why can't these places get a teapot that pours? Look at it, dribbling all over the shop. (The girls laugh) What?
LUCY AUDREY	You. You and teapots. Ever since I've known you – Well, it's hardly rocket science is it, designing a teapot with a working spout? I mean, this is a man's done this, I tell you that. (She adds milk) That's better. Least the jug pours. Now. Come on, Lucy. How's that fella of yours? Sam, is it?
KATE AUDREY	Sam? God, Audrey, you're months behind. Am I? So who is it now?
LUCY KATE	… well, it was Neil. Was ? What do you mean, was? Oh, Luce …
LUCY	Don't.
KATE	When did this happen? You never said!
AUDREY	Oh, Lucy. What was wrong with this one?

KATE	You've broken up?
LUCY	yes.
KATE	So he's not coming to the wedding?
	No. 'Fraid not.
KATE	What was it this time? I thought he was nice!
	Yeah, he was. Nothing, really. He was … yeah, he was OK. I guess. Well, then?
KATE
LUCY AUDREY	That was it – he was just OK.
AUDRET	But she doesn't want OK, do you, love? I know what she wants. Fireworks and razzle dazzle and –
LUCY	Yeah. Well, something like that.
AUDREY	Like Kate and Cal. See, you should have snapped him up while you
AUDITET	had the chance -
KATE	Thanks, Audrey!
AUDREY	 when you were four and he tried to kiss you in the playground.
LUCY	He wasn't trying to kiss me, Audrey, he was trying to pull my pants down.
AUDREY	Was he, the dirty little tyke? I'll give him what for when I get back. Still,
AUDICET	there's always our Aidan.
LUCY	Aidan? Love him to bits but Aidan?!
AUDREY	I know. You're too brainy for him by half, you'd eat him alive, the big softie. Still, you can't blame me for trying, eh?
LUCY	(Laughing) No.
AUDREY	I'd just like to see both my boys settled. Any mother would.
LUCY	I don't know about any mother. But they don't stand a chance, do they, either of them?
AUDREY	Here, what you saying? I'm possessive?
LUCY	Wouldn't dare.
AUDREY	Well, I am. They're my boys! Never mind, one day, eh? Oh, that's a shame about your fella. You know, I always hope every time –
LUCY	I know you do.
AUDREY	Still, London, who knows? I mean, you do get northern lads down there, don't you?
KATE	Audrey!
AUDREY	So, who else is coming? Apart from your mother. Ooh, we had a proper little chat. Did she say?
KATE	She did.
AUDREY	I thought to myself, it's not every day your lad gets wed. Right, let's make contact. So I rang her, your mum. There and then. I was that excited.
KATE	She said.
AUDREY	We had quite a natter. Any road, it's not as if she's a stranger really.
KATE	Cal's told me all about her. Oh dear.

LUCY	I bet.
AUDREY	Now, now
KATE	Audrey, she's really not –
LUCY	Yes, she is.
AUDREY	Listen, I take people as I find them and they have to do the same with me. Is it me, or is he gawping at me?
KATE	Who?
AUDREY	Him. Bloke in the penguin suit -
LUCY	He just fancies you in that overall, Audrey
AUDREY	What? Oh bloomin' 'eck, will you look at me. What am I like? Why ever didn't you say? Probably thinks I'm a cleaner or something.
	(Raising her cup to the unseen maitre d') Nice cuppa! Ta. (Turning back to Kate) So, there'll be your mother and KATE	Claire. My old school friend. Known her since I was four.
AUDREY	Oh, that's nice. So, it'll just be the five of us, will it?
KATE	'Fraid so. All the others I wanted to invite couldn't make this weekend.
AUDREY	Never mind. Oh, come on, I've had my fun, let me just get out of this thing.

She starts to get up to take the tabard off as Kate leaps to her feet

KATE Oh, there she is – Mummy! Mummy! Over here. Oh, and Claire's with her – Oh God – look at her, she's thinner than ever! Claire!

They all get up. Veronica, immaculately dressed and coiffed and Claire pencil thin in an expensive suit come over and embrace Kate with extravagant delight.

VERONICA KATE CLAIRE	Katherine! No need to shout the house down, darling! Hello, Mummy. Claire! You look fantastic! (They embrace) Look at you! Look at you! Wow – you look –
KATE	Fatter?
CLAIRE	No! No for Heaven's sake. Blooming.
KATE	I'm not pregnant!
VERONICA	Pregnant! I should hope not! Darling, I'm not sure about that colour on you
KATE	And you remember Lucy.
VERONICA	Of course. Lucy. Nice to see you again, dear. What an exciting top.
LUCY	Thanks, Mrs Pargetter -
VERONICA	Oh, Veronica, please! Yes, very striking.
LUCY	I could get you one, if you like. (Deliberately) Veronica.
VERONICA	Oh that's very
LUCY	Claire, hi. I'm Lucy.
KATE	Mummy, this is -

CLAIRE	Of course. Lucy! Hi. Good to meet you. Heard a lot about you. Oh tea! Wonderful. We're both parched. You'll have a cup, won't you, Veronica? (Turning to Audrey) Tea for two please.
KATE	Mummy –
AUDREY	(Realising immediately) Right you are, miss. Will that be English
	Breakfast? Or Earl Grey?
CLAIRE	Oh. Earl Grey for me – Veronica?
VERONICA	Lapsang -
KATE	No – no! Mummy! This is Audrey!

Lucy laughs before she can stop herself

CLAIRE KATE VERONICA CLAIRE AUDREY VERONICA AUDREY CLAIRE AUDREY	Oh my God! I'm terribly sorry, Audrey – (Good humouredly) It's all right.
VERONICA
LUCY	Look, guys, let's skip the tea, shall we? How about a bottle of fizz?
AUDREY	Ah, that's the ticket. Now you're talking.
CLAIRE	(Gratefully) Great idea, Lucy. Let's.
VERONICA
CLAIRE	For champagne? It's never too early for champagne.
KATE	You haven't changed.
LUCY	I like the woman's style.
	You don't think we should freshen up first?
AUDREY	Freshen up? You look a picture already, Veronica.
VERONICA	Oh. Well … Thank you very much. But perhaps you might like to … I mean, we all might -
AUDREY	Oh take your point, p'raps I should at least get out of this –
KATE	(Furious with her mother) No, Audrey –
AUDREY	Your Mum's right, lovey. Let me get into something more respectable. Old Mardy Pants can show me to my room. (She goes towards the desk) 'Scuse me, lad
VERONICA	???
LUCY	The maitre d'.
VERONICA	Ah.
CLAIRE	Actually, on second thoughts, I think I'll grab a quick shower first as well. Let's say champagne and cocktails at – what? - seven in the bar?
LUCY	I might have a quick swim in that case. You coming, Kate?

KATE	In a tick.
LUCY	(To Kate) See you later then.

Claire and Lucy leave

VERONICA	Yes. A bientot. (Picking up her handbag) I suppose I'd better check in too, Katherine. That top's a fraction tight, darling, if you don't mind me
KATE	Mummy!
VERONICA	What?
KATE	Just now. Audrey. How could you? You really embarrassed her.
VERONICA	I'm sorry? I embarrassed her? For Heaven's sake, Katherine! I didn't see much sign of embarrassment. Anyway, darling, you might have warned me -
KATE	Warned you? About what?
VERONICA	That she was going to be here! Whatever was she thinking of - coming to a place like this dressed like that?
KATE	She came straight from work –
VERONICA	What about the other guests?
KATE	What about them?
VERONICA	There are standards, Katherine – and I'm not at all sure about what Lucy was wearing either. Hardly suitable for somewhere –
KATE	Look. Please, Mummy -
VERONICA	What?
KATE	(Trying to be firm) This is my weekend. I want to enjoy it –
VERONICA	Well, I'm sure we'll all try to –
KATE	Good. So, please, Mummy. Please. It's just two days. Just go with it, that's all I ask. Just for once please try to be pleasant. (She grabs her bag and rushes off towards the stairs)
VERONICA	Try to be? Katherine! Katherine! What may I ask is that supposed to mean?
The maitre d'appears

The maitre d' appears

M d'	Is everything all right, madam?
VERONICA	(Recovering immediately with a smile) Of course. Everything is fine.
	Just fine, thank you.

She sails off. The maitre d' watches her go. Fade

SCENE 2 7.00 pm Friday. The hotel bar.

Claire and Lucy are getting to know one another. Claire is in an expensive outfit and Lucy has changed into different jeans and casual top. Józef, the barman, is serving them glasses of champagne.

JÓZEF LUCY	So. Two glasses for two beautiful ladies. Thanks.
CLAIRE	Thank you. Do you have any nibbles?
JÓZEF	Sorry?
CLAIRE	Any nibbles?
JÓZEF	Nibbles?
CLAIRE	Yes nuts? Crisps? Olives?
JÓZEF	Yes! Olives, yes! We have olives. Forgive me. I will fetch. (He goes)
CLAIRE	Well Cheers.
LUCY	Cheers.
(Beat)
CLAIRE	Good swim?
LUCY	Great. Had the pool to myself. D'you swim?
CLAIRE	Me? God, no.
LUCY	No.
(Beat)
CLAIRE	Look about earlier, when we arrived. Not a good start. Sorry.
LUCY	Oh, don't worry about it. Takes a lot to upset Audrey.
CLAIRE	Thanks. Hate to get the weekend off on the wrong footing. (Beat) Room OK?
LUCY	You kidding?
CLAIRE	Had to give old Kate a decent send-off. And I thought Veronica would approve.
LUCY	Ah, Veronica. Of course.
CLAIRE	You've met before?
LUCY	Weekend there ooh, four, five years ago.
CLAIRE	Gorgeous, isn't it?
LUCY	Big.
CLAIRE	Not impressed, then.
LUCY	It was a house. Bit Homes and Gardens for me.
CLAIRE	Veronica's life's work – keeping abreast of the latest home furnishing trends.
LUCY	Well – doesn't do it for me.
CLAIRE	No?
LUCY	Don't see the need.
CLAIRE	No? Oh, well Cheers. So. Tell me all about Kate's bloke.

JÓZEF re-appears with a bowl of olives which he carefully places on the table

JÓZEF	Lovely olives for lovely ladies.
CLAIRE	(Curtly) Thank you. (He hesitates) Thank you. That's fine. (He goes) God! They don't get it, do they?
LUCY	Barmen?
CLAIRE	Foreigners … Anyway, about Cal.
LUCY	Thought you'd met him.
CLAIRE	Fleetingly. Seemed nice enough.
LUCY	Nice!
CLAIRE	Look, I met him for about 20 minutes in a pub, OK, with a million other people -
LUCY	Cal's brilliant. Yes, he's a really great bloke.
CLAIRE	Good. Do for her, will he? Ooh, these are scrummy. (She holds the bowl out)
LUCY	No thanks. Do?
CLAIRE	Yes. Will he make her happy, keep her in the style blah blah blah –
LUCY	Think so. Yeah. Yes, he will.
·	e keeps trying)
CLAIRE	Remind me. You're a lawyer, right?
LUCY CLAIRE	Was. Like you. Oh? Was?
	Well, not like you, clearly. Commercial, right? (Claire nods. Lucy points
LUCT	at herself) Legal aid. Pro bono, you know.
CLAIRE	Oh, very worthy. (A look from Lucy) Look – Lucy, doesn't have to be such hard work. (Lucy makes a slight gesture which is almost an apology) And now?
LUCY	Politics. Just got a job as a researcher.
CLAIRE	For a –
LUCY	Our local MP, yeah.
CLAIRE	Oh. Right. (Beat) Aren't you a bit -
LUCY	Old? Yeah. Took me a while to take the plunge.
CLAIRE	Jesus. That must be some pay cut.
LUCY	Some. But I thought, instead of trying to unpick the law when it's a mess, why not help get it right from the start.
CLAIRE	Very idealistic.
LUCY	(Drily) Very necessary.
CLAIRE	So you'll have to move to London?
LUCY	I don't have to, but I will. Unfortunately.
CLAIRE	Come on. It's not that bad.
LUCY	'Spose not. If it weren't for the southerners.
CLAIRE	(Laughing) But Kate's an exception, is she?
LUCY	Oh, we've converted her, Cal and me. He used to call her Tory Girl when they first met.

But now?

CLAIRE

LUCY CLAIRE	She thinks for herself. (Laughing) Cow!
LUCY	My pleasure. And her and Cal, they're going to be fine. OK? Whatever her mum and dad think.
CLAIRE	Ah, well, no-one would ever be good enough for Veronica and Brian.
LUCY	Honest to God, anyone would think they were bloody royalty! All he is is a sodding banker. Isn't he?
CLAIRE	Veronica's not that bad, once you get to know her. It's just, Kate's changed. They don't like that.
LUCY	Tough. People do. They grow up and they change.
CLAIRE	The charity sector was never in their grand plan for Kate. Plus her bit of northern rough has been quite a shock to them. No offence.
LUCY	I thought you'd met Cal.
CLAIRE	It's the principle of the thing. And the vowels.
LUCY	(Letting it go, on a laugh) Reet enough.

They relax slightly

CLAIRE LUCY CLAIRE LUCY	So, you grew up with him, that right? Cal? Lived next door? Originally. My dad used to work for Pat and Audrey Oh, I thought Audrey worked in a –
LUCT	Yeah. She does now. Just for something to do. She certainly doesn't need the money.
CLAIRE	Oh?
LUCY	They had a fitted kitchen business. You know, real craftsman bespoke stuff. Sold out to one of the big boys a year or so back.
CLAIRE	Very nice. Good timing too. So now you're best mates with Kate too. How does that work?
LUCY	What do you mean, how does it work?
CLAIRE	Well, I just thought, you might feel a bit …
LUCY	What?
CLAIRE	I don't know Left out. Sidelined. Whatever.
LUCY	No. 'Course I don't. 'Course not. (Beat) It's fine.
CLAIRE	Good.
LUCY	It's not a problem. I don't know what you're getting at -
CLAIRE	l didn't say it was a problem.
LUCY	Well, it's not. OK?
CLAIRE	OK.
LUCY	I'm very pleased for both of them. Thrilled.
CLAIRE	Thrilled Well, that's all right then, isn't it. So's this. (The champagne)
LUCY (Beat)	Yes, it's … great. Great.

CLAIRE	(Looking round) I think this'll do for our Kate Truth is, in her little heart
LUCY	of hearts, this is much more her bag. Than what?
CLAIRE	Oh, you know
	What, pork scratchings in the Working Men's Club?
CLAIRE	No I meant -
LUCY	(Good humouredly) Bloody hell. You're worse than Veronica.
CLAIRE	Sweetie, I'm an amateur in comparison (Beat) But you don't mind me being maid of honour or whatever I'm called. Do you? Organising all this?
LUCY	No. 'Course not.
CLAIRE	I was quite surprised when Kate asked me. I've seen so little of her over the past few years -
LUCY	She said you had an agreement a pact or something?
CLAIRE	Oh, God, did she? We were – what were we? – twelve or something. Trust her to remember that! Still, long as you're not pissed off or anything.
LUCY	Nope.
CLAIRE	Good. I thought the poor lamb needed something special before she disappears forever into the frozen wastes oop north.
LUCY	(Amused) Leeds?
CLAIRE	Whatever. One Harvey Nicks does not civilisation make.
LUCY	You cheeky get!
They laugh
CLAIRE	(Looking round) Where the hell are they?
LUCY	Kate's always late. And Veronica'll be sharpening her talons. Deciding
CLAIRE	Wouldn't fancy her chances with either of you.
LUCY	(Laughing) Come on, you filthy capitalist, let's have another one before
CLAIRE LUCY They laugh CLAIRE LUCY CLAIRE	(Amused) Leeds? Whatever. One Harvey Nicks does not civilisation make. You cheeky get! (Looking round) Where the hell are they? Kate's always late. And Veronica'll be sharpening her talons. Deciding who to skewer first – me or Audrey. Wouldn't fancy her chances with either of you.

I go and check on my ferrets.

They move towards the bar. The lights cross-fade to

SCENE 3 7.30pm Friday. The foyer

Veronica, in a new outfit, with a document case under her arm, is waiting for Kate to come down. The maitre d' appears

M d' Ah, madam. The two young ladies are in the bar if you were wondering ...
 VERONICA (starting to unpack files, notebooks, magazines) Yes, thank you. I'm waiting for my daughter to come down.
 M d' Of course. Excuse me. Enjoy your evening.

Kate appears as the maitre d' leaves

KATE	Madam. At last. Katherine. There you are. I was hoping to – You look nice, Mummy. Seen the others? Thank you. And you. Is that new? Claire and Lucy are in the bar. You've lost a little weight, darling, haven't you?
	(It's an old ploy of her mother's) No. I don't think so. Shall we - I just thought, you know, about the face.
KATE VERONICA KATE	No, not that I've noticed. People often do, of course. Before a wedding. Oh. Do they.
	Katherine, I hope you're not going to adopt that frosty tone with me all weekend.
KATE VERONICA KATE	I'm sorry. (Beat) Has Audrey come down yet? I don't think so. Probably still on the phone. Oh?
	We're next door to each other. I could hear her. Obviously something was amusing her
KATE VERONICA
KATE VERONICA
KATE VERONICA KATE	Look, I think Audrey's probably a bit nervous. Really? And sometimes you can be
VERONICA	•
VERONICA KATE	Of course I shall be friendly! (her mobile rings) oh, sorry just a tick - For goodness sake! Can't you leave it?
	Won't be a minute. It's Cal. (Answering it) Hello, hon. No, no, not yet. Just going to have a drink. Yeah, she's here. We're all here now

	No, it's absolutely gorgeous. How about you? Really?! You're not! Oh my God! Sounds awful No, I don't want to know just you know. Don't let them And tell Aidan I'll kill him if he OK, OK. You go. Love you. (Finishes the call) Sorry. That was –
VERONICA
	How's Dad? I've no idea.
KATE	Oh. I just thought, you know you might have rung to say you'd got here safely. See how he is.
VERONICA	•
KATE	At the weekend?
VERONICA	Or Berlin. He did say. I simply do not understand this mania for keeping in touch all the time.
KATE	No Anyway, what's all this? (The things Veronica has unpacked)
VERONICA	Ah, yes. Well, I thought, seeing as we have a quiet moment to ourselves at last, we might just and go through a couple of things – just to make sure. There's one or two –
KATE	Oh, no, Mummy! Not the wedding! Not this weekend. Please.
VERONICA	But Katherine –
KATE	Look, we've been through everything a hundred times! Everything's fine. And the others are waiting for us -
VERONICA	Darling, I've spent months on this, cancelling God knows how many other things –
KATE	I told you. You didn't have to –
	Well, thank you very much!
KATE	No, I —
KATE	I'm simply trying to ensure – I know. I know!
	All Daddy and I want to do is give our daughter a proper wedding. One to remember. For your guests to remember. It's supposed to be the happiest day of your life.
KATE	Yes, exactly.
	What's that supposed to mean?
	Look, let's not quarrel -
VERUNICA	Quarrel? I'm not quarrelling. I'm endeavouring to make sure that everything is –
KATE	I know.
	Well, then. Your big day should be just that.
KATE	Yes. My big day. My big day!
VERONICA KATE	What do you mean by that? Oh … nothing. Forget it.

KATE VERONICA KATE	 Oh! I see. I see exactly what the problem is. There isn't a problem! Yes, yes, yes. What do you mean, yes, yes, yes? I'm afraid you can't fool me, Katherine. You're getting cold feet, aren't you, young lady –
KATE VERONICA	I'm not getting cold feet! People do, girls – I mean, it's the biggest decision you ever make. Marriage. You don't want to go rushing into it –
KATE VERONICA	Mummy, for God's sake! We've been together for five years!
KATE	Look, all I'm saying is - don't you think that maybe the whole thing has got a bit out of hand
VERONICA KATE VERONICA	In what way? All these flowers, the menus, these these bloody wedding favours – Katherine!
KATE	Sorry - but we had a thirty minute conversation last week about how many sugared almonds there should be in a bit of net and what colour the ribbons should be!
VERONICA KATE	Lace. What?
	It was lace, not net.
KATE	Lace, net, clingfilm – whatever. I don't care! Every conversation we have these days, seems to turn into a battleground.
VERONICA
KATE	Peculiar?
KATE	What's wrong with a decent piece of beef, that's what I want to know? This has got nothing to do with pieces of beef!
VERONIVA KATE	Katherine, people are looking! We asked for a quiet wedding, just close family and friends. Now we've got marquees at the golf club, people, relatives I've never even met flying in from Australia and God knows where else, enough flowers to carpet a cemetery –
VERONICA	(Trying a different tack) All right. Katherine, Katherine, darling. Come and sit down. (She pulls Kate into a quiet corner) Now then. I know what this is.
KATE	I've just told you what it is!
VERONICA KATE	I'm your mother, I know precisely what this is. Displacement. I'm sorry?
	It's very common. I've read all about it.

KATE	What in, Good Housekeeping?
VERONICA	I'm going to ignore that, Katherine. It was Radio 4 as a matter of fact. Jenni Murray. What it means –
KATE	I know what displacement is, Mummy. I just don't see what point you're trying to make.
VERONICA KATE	You are fixated on the arrangements for the wedding – Me? I'm fixated!
	- when what you're really worried about is the marriage itself.
KATE VERONICA	I'm? I am not worried about getting married! You lie there in the middle of the night, thinking about the future. I know. You think, do I really want to wake up every morning with this person –
KATE	Yes! Yes, I do, as it happens!
	Year after year –
KATE VERONICA	Mummy, I love him! Oh, love! For Heaven's sake. You're not a teenager any more,
VERONIOA	Katherine –
KATE	Good Heavens! Really? Am I not?
VERONICA	Don't be sarcastic, darling, it's most unattractive. Oh yes, there's so much to worry about. Where will we live?
KATE	We live in Leeds!
	For now, yes –
	We've bought a flat. Together. We've settled there! Yes How will we manage? Don't think I don't know. Daddy hasn't always been at the top of the tree. We struggled, you know, in the early days. What if a baby comes along? Not to mention his family –
KATE	Oh, here we go
KATE	All these different people, different customs, different - Mummy, listen to me, I really like Cal's family. I really like them. Their attitude to life, their good humour, their generosity. They make me laugh –
VERONICA	I can see why. Darling, you're very young –
KATE	I'm 28! How old were you when you got married?
	That's irrelevant.
KATE	How old?
VERONICA KATE	I was 22 as it happens – You see?
	- when 22 meant something.
KATE	And what on earth does that mean?
VERONICA	There's no need to talk to me in that tone of voice!
KATE	Mummy, like it or not, I'm marrying Cal.
VERONICA	Well, madam, don't think you can come running back to me if it all goes wrong.

KATE	To you! You are the last person on earth I'm not a child any more -
	You'll always be a child to me.
KATE	I've never been a child to you. You don't like children!
	I Look, Daddy and I just want you to be happy.
KATE	Like you?
VERONICA	That's beside the point.
KATE	That's exactly the point!
VERONICA	Daddy and I just feel –
KATE	Why do you keep calling him Daddy? I've never called him Daddy. He's not a Daddy. He's not even a Dad.
VERONICA	What do you mean, he's not even a Dad?
KATE	Well, Dads are – I don't know – approachable. Cuddly. Dadish. Around.
VERONICA	Dadish! Three years at university and –
KATE	Oh, God! You know perfectly well what I'm trying to say.
VERONICA	Do you know, I think your Callum – and his family - has had a very unfortunate influence on you, Katherine. You never used to be so difficult, so offensive -
KATE	This has nothing to do with Cal! You think I'm being offensive?
VERONICA	I think you're being very offensive, yes.
KATE	(Getting up) So I've learnt at least one thing from you.
VERONICA
KATE	You always have to … why do you always …
VERONICA	(Grabbing her hand) Darling, please. Please. I I'm sorry. I'm very things are a little difficult Look, Audrey's not the only one who's nervous. Please. Katherine, please. Darling. (Kate hesitates, contrite) I promise you It won't take a moment.

She starts to unfold a large A2 piece of paper and lay it out on the coffee table

KATE	Oh, Mummy, no! Not here. Tomorrow. Leave it 'til tomorrow. Now's not the time.
VERONICA	Well, when is the time? I can't discuss something like this with you on the phone. You have to see it.
KATE	Can't you – I don't know – email it to me?
VERONICA	Email! It's far too big.
KATE	No it isn't. You could use –
VERONICA	But I've written it all out now. I can't possibly –

The maitre d' appears

M d'	Excuse me, madam.
VERONICA	Yes?
M d'	We do ask that guests refrain from holding business meetings in the lounge. We have a number of small rooms available –

VERONICA M d' VERONICA	l beg your pardon? Fully WiFi enabled – Fully –
M d' VERONICA	WiFi. We can arrange to serve coffee – This is not a business meeting! I hardly think that running over the details of my daughter's wedding's seating plan qualifies as a business meeting!
M d'	Ah.
VERONICA	Well, does it?
M d' VERONICA	No. Of course, madam. I see. My mistake. I do apologise. (He leaves) Well, really!
KATE	It is taking up quite a bit of space, Mummy.
VERONICA	Of course it is. I had to get everybody on. I tell you, it's been a nightmare, Katherine. I've been hours swapping people hither and thither. And your father's been worse than useless –
KATE	Do we have to do this right now –
VERONICA	Well, when then? We've only six weeks left!
KATE	(Looking at it properly for the first time) Oh, you'll have to take Neil Lewis off anyway.
VERONICA	Who? Take him off? Why? Where?
KATE	Him. There. He's not coming. They've split up, him and Luce.
VERONICA	But I can't take him off. That leaves me with 13 at that table! Can't he and Lucy patch things up? Just for the day, for goodness sake?
KATE VERONICA	And why are Cal's relatives all on these two tables at the back? Well, I thought they might be more I mean, they won't know
KATE	anyone, will they? But isn't that the point? You mix people up, introduce them to each other?
VERONICA	Yes, but you're sitting there for a couple of hours. If not more. You want people you have something in common with. I mean, what on earth would you talk about?
KATE	And who are these people? Felicia Rogers? Lionel Partington-Brown? Eloise –
VERONICA	You remember Felicia! Little sparrow of a woman, dicky hip. Has a bit of a problem with facial hair – ovaries, or something –
KATE	I don't have the first idea who you're talking about! Is she a relative?
VERONICA	She used to live four doors down from us, when you were a toddler. Moved to Grinchcombe. You know – Regent House – that lovely double-fronted Georgian place by the green? She's always asking after you.
KATE	I don't know her from Adam! I don't know any of these people –
VERONICA	You'll recognise them when you see them –
KATE	Recognise them? This is my wedding!
VERONICA	Katherine

KATE	Our family and friends. That's what it's supposed to be. How many guests are there?
	You don't need to worry about that –
KATE	How many?
	I think it's about a hundred. There or thereabouts.
KATE	There's more than a hundred here! Even I can see that.
	Oh I don't remember –
KATE	How many exactly?
VERONICA
KATE	Mummy!
	(very quietly) 164.
KATE	What?
	Well, 163, without this Neil creature.
KATE	163! 163?
	Keep your voice down, Katherine. There's no need to get over-excited.
KATE	We said, small, intimate -
	I know. I know.
KATE	Then suddenly it's a marquee –
	I told you – I explained -
KATE	Yes, yes. It wasn't what we wanted, but you insisted -
	Here we go. Your father said you'd be like this –
KATE	Like what?
	Argumentative. Ungrateful.
KATE	How d'you do it? How do you do it?
VERONICA
KATE	Every time. Every time! We tell you what we'd like, we agree it with you, for God's sake, then you go off and do something completely different, invite crowds of total strangers to our wedding, and suddenly it's my fault!
	Now, Katherine –
KATE	I mean four months ago, four months ago we sat down with you and went through the invitation list. We went through it name by name, all these Australian relatives, that weird uncle in Bangkok and I thought all right, they're family, I wouldn't invite them, but you both seemed so set on it but now we've got half the population of a small Hampshire town, most of whom I've never even heard of!
	Well, we had certain debts to repay –
KATE	Debts? What do you mean, debts?
	Weddings we'd been invited to. It's not my fault that you moved away –
KATE	Not again! What's that got to do with it?
VERUNICA	We know all these people! And their children. Of course they invite us to their weddings and so –
KATE	You have to return the favour?

VERONICA Exactly! You see? Look, is there any chance Lucy could find another boyfriend before the 21st?

Kate is speechless. She is about to leave when Claire appears, two glasses of champagne in hand

 KATE Argument. (Taking her glass) Thanks, Claire. VERONICA Darling! You are naughty. We were just talking through the seating plan, Claire. CLAIRE Now? KATE (With a look) Yes. VERONICA Would you like to see it, Claire? CLAIRE Later perhaps? (Reluctantly Veronica starts to fold the plan away) Oh, about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy at weekends. VERONICA Oh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding? KATE Mummy! Ignore her, Claire. CLAIRE A part- KATE Forget it. Have you booked anything yet? CLAIRE Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE The book's pretty full, Katie. KATE I'l risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? VERONICA What do you think? 	CLAIRE VERONICA	Ah! Found you. We're in the bar. Wondered where you'd got to. Claire! (Taking a glass) How gorgeous. We were on our way to join you. We were just having a nice little –
 VERONICA Darling! You are naughty. We were just talking through the seating plan, Claire. CLAIRE Now? KATE (With a look) Yes. VERONICA Would you like to see it, Claire? CLAIRE Later perhaps? (Reluctantly Veronica starts to fold the plan away) Oh, about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy at weekends. VERONICA Oh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding? KATE Mummy! Ignore her, Claire. CLAIRE A part– KATE Forget it. Have you booked anything yet? CLAIRE Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? 	KATE plan, Člaire.CLAIRENow?KATE(With a look) Yes.VERONICAWould you like to see it, Claire?CLAIRELater perhaps? (Reluctantly Veronica starts to fold the plan away) Oh, about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy at weekends.VERONICAOh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding?KATEMummy! Ignore her, Claire.CLAIREA part-KATEForget it. Have you booked anything yet?CLAIRETomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation.VERONICAGosh! That sounds marvellous!CLAIREWell, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAI'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREThe book's pretty full, Katie.KATEI said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREI a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?
CLAIRENow?KATE(With a look) Yes.VERONICAWould you like to see it, Claire?CLAIRELater perhaps? (Reluctantly Veronica starts to fold the plan away) Oh, about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy at weekends.VERONICACh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the weedding?KATEMummy! Ignore her, Claire.CLAIREA part-KATEForget it. Have you booked anything yet?CLAIRETomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation.VERONICAGosh! That sounds marvellous!CLAIREWell, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREThe book's pretty full, Katie.KATEI isi it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire . I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREI isi d I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREI is a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?
 VERONICA Would you like to see it, Claire? CLAIRE Later perhaps? (Reluctantly Veronica starts to fold the plan away) Oh, about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy at weekends. VERONICA Oh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding? KATE Mummy! Ignore her, Claire. CLAIRE A part– KATE Forget it. Have you booked anything yet? CLAIRE Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – I hasid I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? 	CLAIRE	•
 CLAIRE Later perhaps? (Reluctantly Veronica starts to fold the plan away) Oh, about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy at weekends. VERONICA Oh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding? KATE Mummy! Ignore her, Claire. CLAIRE A part– KATE Forget it. Have you booked anything yet? CLAIRE Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I though I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA 'Im sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – CLAIRE I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? 	KATE	(With a look) Yes.
 about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy at weekends. VERONICA Oh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding? KATE Mummy! Ignore her, Claire. CLAIRE A part– KATE Forget it. Have you booked anything yet? CLAIRE Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? 	VERONICA	Would you like to see it, Claire?
 VERONICA Oh. Goodness. I was hoping at least to have a facial. And a massage, Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding? KATE Mummy! Ignore her, Claire. CLAIRE A part- KATE Forget it. Have you booked anything yet? CLAIRE Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA I'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – CLAIRE I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? 	CLAIRE	about the spa. You need to book something tonight. It gets really busy
 Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the wedding? KATE Mummy! Ignore her, Claire. CLAIRE A part– KATE Forget it. Have you booked anything yet? CLAIRE Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA I'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – CLAIRE I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
KATEMummyl Ignore her, Claire.CLAIREA part-KATEForget it. Have you booked anything yet?CLAIRETomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation.VERONICAGosh! That sounds marvellous!CLAIREWell, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAI'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of -CLAIREI'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire -KATEI said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?	VERONICA	Oh, Claire - I don't suppose you'd care to bring a partner? To the
CLAIREA part-KATEForget it. Have you booked anything yet?CLAIRETomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation.VERONICAGosh! That sounds marvellous!CLAIREWell, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAI'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of -CLAIREI'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire -KATEI said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?	KATE	0
CLAIRETomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation.VERONICAGosh! That sounds marvellous!CLAIREWell, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAI'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAI'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?	CLAIRE
 a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation. VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA I'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – CLAIRE I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? 	KATE	Forget it. Have you booked anything yet?
 VERONICA Gosh! That sounds marvellous! CLAIRE Well, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it. VERONICA I'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – CLAIRE I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? 	CLAIRE	Tomorrow afternoon. Hot stones massage, followed by a pedicure and CLAIREWell, I thought I'd treat myself. It's a package. £200. (At a look from Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAI'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?		a full Aroma-relax Envelopment with facial peel and rejuvenation.
Kate) Yes, I'm sure that would pay for a million cataract operations in Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAI'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of –CLAIREI'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire –KATEI said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?	VERONICA	Gosh! That sounds marvellous!
Angola or somewhere, but I earn it, I spend it.VERONICAI'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of –CLAIREI'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREThe book's pretty full, Katie.KATEI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire –KATEI said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?	CLAIRE
 VERONICA I'm sure Katherine wouldn't dream of – CLAIRE I'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself) VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE The book's pretty full, Katie. KATE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
CLAIREI'm sure she would. (Kate laughs in spite of herself)VERONICAKatherine, darling, shall I book the same for you?KATEThanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning.CLAIREThe book's pretty full, Katie.KATEI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire –KATEI said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?
 VERONICA Katherine, darling, shall I book the same for you? KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE The book's pretty full, Katie. KATE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
 KATE Thanks, Mummy, but I'll make my mind up tomorrow morning. CLAIRE The book's pretty full, Katie. KATE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter? 	-
CLAIREThe book's pretty full, Katie.KATEI'll risk it.VERONICAKatherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire –KATEI said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming?CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?
 KATE I'll risk it. VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
 VERONICA Katherine, I do think you should listen to what Claire – KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
 KATE I said I'll risk it. Thanks for the fizz, Claire. I'm going to find the others. Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
Coming? CLAIRE In a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
CLAIREIn a bit. They're in the bar. (Waiting until Kate is out of earshot) Is she all right, Veronica?VERONICANo, I'm afraid not.CLAIREOh dear. What's the matter?	NATE
all right, Veronica? VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?		5
VERONICA No, I'm afraid not. CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?
CLAIRE Oh dear. What's the matter?	VERONICA	G
	VERONICA

CLAIRE VERONICA CLAIRE VERONICA CLAIRE VERONICA	Second thoughts?
CLAIRE VERONICA	Stop it? Me?
CLAIRE VERONICA	What?
CLAIRE VERONICA CLAIRE	Food? He's a vegetarian, for God's sake. And you know what they're like. What do you mean?
VERONICA	Special catering. You've no idea. Nightmare at dinner parties – and you the hoops I've had to jump through for the wedding breakfast –
CLAIRE VERONICA	Not these days, surely. I thought most places were – Finicky, picky, sickly. Turning their food over with their forks as if a rogue piece of meat will leap out and –
CLAIRE VERONICA	I'm not sure you can call Cal sickly, can you? He rows, doesn't he? Well, that's hardly demanding is it? They just sit down, don't they? Look, Claire, this the last chance, this weekend –
CLAIRE	Veronica, they've been living together for –
VERONICA	I know, I know but You've got to get her to see Make her face up to the truth. What she's throwing away. You're her oldest friend, Claire –
CLAIRE VERONICA CLAIRE	Veronica, you can't expect me to – Yes. Yes I do! It's crunch time. But -
VERONICA	Please, please, please, Claire! I think, you see, she's worried sick but obviously she's terrified of letting Brian and me down. As if that mattered! It's only money. But she's proud, Katherine, too proud to admit she's making a big mistake. You know what she's like.
CLAIRE VERONICA CLAIRE	l'm not sure l'm the right – Who better? Claire, you're my last hope - Look, l've only met him the once but they seemed very happy together
VERONICA CLAIRE	- Claire, dear! Anyone can put a happy face on. And I quite liked him, Cal.

VERONICA Call Callum! What kind of a name is that? Almost certainly Irish. And the mother! CLAIRE Oh, Veronica. Come on. She's quite sweet. VERONICA Sweet? Sweet? Claire, she was wearing ... an apron in a five star hotel! A nylon tabard in a five star spa hotel! CLAIRE I know but -VERONICA You're very forgiving, Claire. Too nice for your own good. I've always thought so. I was mortified. She's quite out of her depth here, that's perfectly obvious. You know they offered to pay for the wine? CLAIRE Sorry? What? Who did? VERONICA Audrey and Pat. CLAIRE Pat? VERONICA The husband. Patrick, presumably. Some kind of joiner, I think he is. CLAIRE No, Veronica, they had their own business – VERONICA Their own business! Please! Katherine pretends to adore them. Can you imagine? The wine? What it would have been like? Probably come in those dreadful boxes from some ghastly cash point thing -CLAIRE Cash and carry, you mean? VERONICA I didn't dare mention it to Brian. Of course I was very careful. Very tactful. Said we wouldn't think of it, you know, it was our responsibility. CLAIRE It was kind of them though. To offer. VERONICA Kind ...? I suppose so, but ... I've been months planning this wedding, Claire. Like a campaign, it's been. Every last detail. It's all in here (the case). Well, you know what I'm like. CLAIRE Yes. VERONICA I can't help it. I'm a perfectionist. I want it to be ... I want people to think it's the best wedding they've ever been to. I don't want some stranger muscling in ... don't get me wrong. I'm not making any ... Look, all I'm saying is, it's got nothing to do with people's backgrounds, I mean I am the last person to be concerned about things like that ... it's just ... Claire, you do see what I mean? CLAIRE Oh, Veronica ... VERONICA Good. I knew I could count on you. I've always thought It was a great shame you and Katherine didn't go on to university together. You were always such a marvellous influence on her. CLAIRE I was? VERONICA I mean, working for a charity! With her brains! And look at you, how well you've done! Brian and I, we've always thought of you as ... well ... so, will you please, please ... just try? Please. I would be so, so grateful -CLAIRE The thing is, Veronica, honestly, I don't see Kate much these days – I mean, you know, Leeds, London - I think Lucy is much closer -VERONICA Claire, I'm relying on you. I've done everything a mother can do. You're the only one who can save her now. And don't talk to me about that wretched Lucy creature. Does the girl not own a skirt? And that relationship in itself is unhealthy, don't you think?

CLAIRE Unhealthy?

VERONICA Well, Callum is her friend first and now she's pally pally with Katherine. Don't tell me that's normal. She's clamped to Katherine's side like a ... parasite. Like a Russian vine. And I was going to ask you, do you think that she has a drink problem?

CLAIRE Lucy?

VERONICA Yes! Didn't you notice? Practically the first thing she said to us was let's have a drink. Couldn't wait to get on to the alcohol. Oh, look (with a beaming smile) here they come. Tell me those aren't jeans she's wearing! Chin up, Claire. Into battle. Let's get it over with.

They move through to join the others. Fade

SCENE 4 Friday night. 8pm.The restaurant. The murmur of other diners and scrape of cutlery etc

The party are studying menus and chatting. Audrey is playing up her northern credentials largely for Veronica's benefit

AUDREY	And what are you wearing, Audrey? Oh – this old thing! Probably M&S years ago – I meant for the wedding. The wedding! Well, tell you the truth, Veronica, I'm in a right lather about it.
VERONICA AUDREY VERONICA	That I am.
LUCY AUDREY	(Translating for Veronica) A bit of a state. That's what I said. A right lather.
VERONICA AUDREY	Oh dear. I drag Pat round the shops almost every weekend at the moment – he hates shopping – well, don't they all, men? I don't know about your Brian –
VERONICA AUDREY	No? Well. It's the not driving, see. Means I have to –
VERONICA AUDREY VERONICA CLAIRE	Never felt the need what with Pat and the bus if he's not around.
AUDREY	Take a taxi, he says, go on, treat yourself, but I don't know, seems such an extravagance. So I drag him round, he's chuntering away under his breath. We've only been to about five shops and he's already got a face on.
VERONICA LUCY
AUDREY	She means he's in a bad mood. Veronica knows fine well what I mean, you cheeky miss. So. I give him the paper – some shops, they even have mags for the men to keep them happy these days, don't they? Some hope! What do you think of this? I say. 'Course by then he's missing the footie so he's got a right mardy on: he says, too tight –
VERONICA	A what?
LUCY AUDREY	A mardy. You know, a strop. Too tight. Too loose. Too whatever. Right, that's it, I say, forget it. Then he's all, no, no, we're here now. Let's find something. Stop blethering and get on with it. Get on with it, I say, that's what I've been trying to do for the last half hour. Much help you've been with your nose stuck in What Car? or somesuch. And he's, for your information, it's Auto Express. (All except Veronica are now starting to laugh) I say to him, I don't care if it's Horse and bloody Hound - all I want is to know if I look halfway decent in this chiffon getup. Then he puts the magazine down, all deliberate like, and gets his distance specs out – which takes him about fifteen minutes 'cos he's being provoking - and he eyes me up and down like a prize cow. 'Course I've had it by now so I tear the ruddy thing off – but careful like, 'cos it costs an arm and a leg and I don't want to have to buy it just 'cos I've broken the zip or something - and I grab my bag – I mean, I'm ready to deck him. And the woman in the shop, she's a right snotty and scrawny as hell – have you noticed these women, must live on air, there's not an ounce on them. So she's looking me up and down, tottering around on her Manolo bloody Blahblahs –

VERONICA Blahniks.

AUDREY Just my little joke, love - and he's throwing a benny or near as, so I'm off, marching back to the car with sod-all. 'Course then I can't remember where he's parked the chuffing thing – or even what colour it is, come to that, they all look the bloody same - and he's taking his time, winding me up like, and the bugger won't give us a clue where it is, just strolls along looking like butter wouldn't melt, smiling to himself and I'm boiling, I mean you should hear me, I'm calling out all sorts to the dozy twonk, 'scuse my French, 'cept old cloth ears is pretending he can't hear me – he knows how to get me going – and then the bugger starts laughing and, I can't help myself – I'm laughing too, the pair of us stood in the middle of the car park howling like banshees and, I don't know, I can't keep it up, so I go over and clock him with me bag and we go home.

Everyone except Veronica is laughing

VERONICA AUDREY	I see. So you still don't have an outfit? No. Nor a hat. No shoes. No bag. Nothing. Oh. Except some silk panties he bought me last Christmas, still in the box. Thought they deserved an outing. And now he's sworn never to go shopping with me again. So, I'm thinking mail-order.
VERONICA	(Horrified) Mail order?
KATE	That's an idea. Get something on-line –
CLAIRE	Ooh, I know some really good websites. I mean, designer stuff –
VERONICA	(Faintly) On-line …
AUDREY	It's a thought, though, isn't it? And I can always send it back if I don't like it -
CLAIRE	You need to know where to look, though. Are you on broadband,
	Audrey?
AUDREY	I am, love.

CLAIRE	Give me your email address before we leave, and I'll ping you some sites when I get home.
AUDREY	Oh, you're an angel, you are. I'll get cracking on Monday. Any road, what are you wearing, Veronica? Bet you're sorted already, aren't you?
VERONICA	Yes. I've been sorted for months, as a matter of fact. I'm in fuchsia.
AUDREY	Oh, that's nice. I like something bright.
VERONICA	Well, it's a very subtle fuchsia, actually. Isn't it, Katherine?
KATE	It's lovely. Really.
AUDREY	I was thinking I'd probably go for something in my old favourite: blue. You can't go wrong with blue, can you? How about you, Lucy love?
KATE	Oh, Lucy's is fabulous! We got it in Hampstead when we went down for the weekend. Show them, Luce.
	You've got it here?
LUCY	No, it's on my phone.
KATE	Honestly, Mummy!
AUDREY	You girls and your phones!
	Look. Here you go.
VERONICA	(Leaning over) Oh, it's a dress! Yes.
LUCY VERONICA
AUDREY	That's lovely, that. What do they call that colour?
LUCY	Something poncey It's quite plain, really.
	Ecru. That's what I'd call it.
AUDREY	Would you? Looks beige to me.
KATE	Well, she looks fantastic in it. Better than I do.
VERONICA
LUCY	Oh, give over, will you, Kate.
AUDREY	Oh, we'll all look grand on the day, won't we. And our Kate could wear a paper bag and she'd still look more beautiful than all of us put together. (Benoît, the sommelier. appears with the wine list) Oh, good man!
BENOÎT	Bonsoir, mesdames, May I offer you ladies a drink?
CLAIRE	You most certainly can. What shall we have –
VERONICA	Oh yes, a drink. I think we could all do with one. Wine or Audrey?
AUDREY	Oh, now, the wine. Please, Veronica. Let me.
VERONICA	No, no
AUDREY	Veronica please. I'd really like to.
VERONICA	I wouldn't dream of it –
AUDREY	Veronica –
	Mummy -
VERONICA
AUDREY	generous. No, no, no, it'd be my pleasure.

AUDREYNow, any preference? Do we all know what we're having?LUCYNot yet. But I don't mind. Whatever.KATENor me - red or white.VERONICAI have to say I'm not a fan of Mateus Rose.KATEMummy!AUDREYMateus Rose? Good Lord, they never still make that stuff? I was thinking more something like -BENOÎTPerhaps you would care for an aperitif, Iadies? While you decide?ULCYWhat about a bottle of champagne?VERONICAAnother?CLAIREYou're on.AUDREYGrand. Oh, I need my specs for this (she starts rooting in her bag)VERONICAReally? More champagne?VUCYWhy not? We're celebrating.VERONICACh no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs -AUDREYNo no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs -VERONICAYes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive.KATEMummy!AUDREYWhat's your name, lad?BENOÎTBenoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, Iad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that?BENOÎTLouis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course.AUDREYNo, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow?CLAIREI'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef.LUCYI'm not fussed.KATENor me.AUDREYVeronica?VERONICAOh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfec	VERONICA AUDREY BENOÎT	Well, then … thank you very much That's settled then. Good. Let's see the wine list, shall we? Madam.
VERONICAI have to say I'm not a fan of Mateus Rose.KATEMummy!AUDREYMateus Rose? Good Lord, they never still make that stuff? I was thinking more something like –BENOÎTPerhaps you would care for an aperitif, ladies? While you decide?LUCYWhat about a bottle of champagne?VERONICAAnother?CLAIREYou're on.AUDREYGrand. Oh, I need my specs for this (she starts rooting in her bag)VERONICAReally? More champagne?LUCYWhy not? We're celebrating.VERONICACh well yes. But in that case Let meAUDREYNo no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs -VERONICAYes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive.KATEMummy!AUDREYWhat's your name, lad?BENOÎTBenoît, madam. The house champagne?AUDREYWell, Benoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that?BENOÎTLouis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course.AUDREYFine – we'll start with that, then.VERONICAAudrey – really the house champagne would beAUDREYNo, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow?CLAIREI'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef.LUCYI'm not fussed.KATENor me.AUDREYVeronica?VERONICAOh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be	AUDREY	Now, any preference? Do we all know what we're having?
AUDREYMateus Rose? Good Lord, they never still make that stuff? I was thinking more something like –BENOÎTPerhaps you would care for an aperitif, ladies? While you decide?LUCYWhat about a bottle of champagne?VERONICAAnother?CLAIREYou're on.AUDREYGrand. On, I need my specs for this (she starts rooting in her bag)VERONICAReally? More champagne?LUCYWhy not? We're celebrating.VERONICAReally? More champagne?LUCYWhy not? We're celebrating.VERONICANo no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs -VERONICAYes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive.KATEMummy!AUDREYWhat's your name, lad?BENOÎTBenoît, madam. The house champagne?AUDREYWell, Benoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that?BENOÎTLouis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course.AUDREYFine – we'll start with that, then.VERONICAAudrey – really the house champagne would beAUDREYNo, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow?CLAIREI'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef.LUCYI'm not fussed.KATENor me.AUDREYVeronica; it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Bu	VERONICA	I have to say I'm not a fan of Mateus Rose.
BENOÎTPerhaps you would care for an aperitif, ladies? While you decide?LUCYWhat about a bottle of champagne?VERONICAAnother?CLAIREYou're on.AUDREYGrand. Oh, I need my specs for this (she starts rooting in her bag)VERONICAReally? More champagne?LUCYWhy not? We're celebrating.VERONICAOh well yes. But in that case Let meAUDREYNo no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs -VERONICAYes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive.KATEMummy!AUDREYWhat's your name, lad?BENOÎTBenoît, madam. The house champagne?AUDREYWell, Benoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that?BENOÎTLouis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course.AUDREYFine – we'll start with that, then.VERONICAAudrey – really the house champagne would beAUDREYNo, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow?CLAIREI'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef.LUCYI'm not fussed.KATENor me.AUDREYVeronica?VERONICAOh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate.AUDREYVeronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps.		Mateus Rose? Good Lord, they never still make that stuff? I was
CLAIREYou're on.AUDREYGrand. Oh, I need my specs for this (she starts rooting in her bag)VERONICAReally? More champagne?LUCYWhy not? We're celebrating.VERONICAOh well yes. But in that case Let meAUDREYNo no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs -VERONICAYes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive.KATEMummy!AUDREYWhat's your name, lad?BENOÎTBenoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that?BENOÎTLouis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course.AUDREYFine – we'll start with that, then.VERONICAAudrey – really the house champagne would beAUDREYNo, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow?CLAIREI'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef.LUCYI'm not fussed.KATENor me.AUDREYVeronica; ti's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out)BENOÎTA Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam?		Perhaps you would care for an aperitif, ladies? While you decide?
 VERONICA Really? More champagne? LUCY Why not? We're celebrating. VERONICA Oh well yes. But in that case Let me AUDREY No no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs - VERONICA Yes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive. KATE Mummy! AUDREY What's your name, lad? BENOÎT Benoît, madam. The house champagne? AUDREY Well, Benoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that? BENOÎT Louis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course. AUDREY Fine – we'll start with that, then. VERONICA Audrey – really the house champagne would be AUDREY No, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow? CLAIRE I'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef. LUCY I'm not fussed. KATE Nor me. AUDREY Veronica? VERONICA Oh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate. AUDREY Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out) BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam? 	CLAIRE	You're on.
 VERONICA Oh well yes. But in that case Let me AUDREY No no I said it's my shout. Once I've found my specs - VERONICA Yes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive. KATE Mummy! AUDREY What's your name, lad? BENOÎT Benoît, madam. The house champagne? AUDREY Well, Benoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that? BENOÎT Louis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course. AUDREY Fine – we'll start with that, then. VERONICA Audrey – really the house champagne would be AUDREY No, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow? CLAIRE I'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef. LUCY I'm not fussed. KATE Nor me. AUDREY Veronica? VERONICA Oh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate. AUDREY Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out) BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam? 	VERONICA	Really? More champagne?
 VERONICA Yes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive. KATE Mummy! AUDREY What's your name, lad? BENOÎT Benoît, madam. The house champagne? AUDREY Well, Benoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that? BENOÎT Louis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course. AUDREY Fine – we'll start with that, then. VERONICA Audrey – really the house champagne would be AUDREY No, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow? CLAIRE I'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef. LUCY I'm not fussed. KATE Nor me. AUDREY Veronica? VERONICA Oh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate. AUDREY Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out) BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam? 	VERONICA	Oh well yes. But in that case Let me
 AUDREY What's your name, lad? BENOÎT Benoît, madam. The house champagne? AUDREY Well, Benoît Hang on. Can't find my specs, must have left them upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that? BENOÎT Louis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course. AUDREY Fine – we'll start with that, then. VERONICA Audrey – really the house champagne would be AUDREY No, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow? CLAIRE I'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef. LUCY I'm not fussed. KATE Nor me. AUDREY Veronica? VERONICA Oh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate. AUDREY Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out) BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam? 	VERONICA	Yes, but Audrey, a place like this it will be rather expensive.
 upstairs so l'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle of that? BENOÎT Louis Roederer? Yes, madam. Of course. AUDREY Fine – we'll start with that, then. VERONICA Audrey – really the house champagne would be AUDREY No, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow? CLAIRE I'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef. LUCY I'm not fussed. KATE Nor me. AUDREY Veronica? VERONICA Oh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate. AUDREY Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out) BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam?
AUDREYFine – we'll start with that, then.VERONICAAudrey – really the house champagne would beAUDREYAudrey – really the house champagne would beAUDREYNo, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow?CLAIREI'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef.LUCYI'm not fussed.KATENor me.AUDREYVeronica?VERONICAOh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate.AUDREYVeronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out)BENOÎTA Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam?	AUDREY	upstairs so I'm in your hands, lad. Right. Champagne. No, let's try something else. How about a Louis Roederer? Would you have a bottle
 AUDREY No, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or white to follow? CLAIRE I'd prefer red, myself. I'm having the beef. LUCY I'm not fussed. KATE Nor me. AUDREY Veronica? VERONICA Oh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate. AUDREY Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out) BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam?
LUCYI'm not fussed.KATENor me.AUDREYVeronica?VERONICAOh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate.AUDREYVeronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy.Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out)BENOÎTA Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam?		No, no, not on your life. Got that, Benoît? Now then, ladies. Red or
AUDREY VERONICA AUDREYVeronica?Oh, yes, red is fine. I'm sure the house wine will be perfectly adequate. Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out)BENOÎTA Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam?	LUCY	I'm not fussed.
 AUDREY Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that? (General assent, Veronica looking put out) BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam? 	AUDREY	Veronica?
BENOÎT A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam?		Veronica, it's a special occasion, is this! We need something a bit tidy. Now then, young fella, help us out. We'd like a red, please, with a bit of body. Nice drop of Burgundy p'raps. Everyone happy with that?
AUDREY What year would that be, then?	VERONICA	A Burgundy May I recommend the Gevrey Chambertin, madam? Sounds marvellous.

BENOÎT AUDREY	2000, madam. A very good year across the board. Indeed it was, but no, no, lad, I don't think so in this case. Do you not have a 2002?
BENOÎT	A? No, madam, I regret but for certain we do have a very fine
	2005.
AUDREY	2005! What are you thinking, Benoît? That'll not be ready for another ten years at least! Come on now. Let's have another look, eh? (She takes the wine list from him) Lend us your specs, there's a good lad.

VERONICA and CLAIRE exchange looks, Benoît reluctantly relinquishes his glasses

KATE	Audrey, I'm sure whatever they have –
AUDREY	Right. Let the dog see the rabbit. My, these are strong, aren't they?
	(Going down the list, with difficulty) No, no, no yes! The '98
	Pommard Premier Cru Fremiers. That'll do the job.
BENOÎT	(sotto voce) The '98 You've seen the price, madam.
AUDREY	Yes, lad, I can read. Even with these glasses. Two bottles, please.
	(She hands him back the wine list and the glasses) That and champagne on my tab. Room 54. Off you go now.
KATE	Audrey – really, there's no need –
AUDREY	There's every need, sweetheart. Like Lucy says, we're celebrating, aren't we? (She looks after the sommelier) Ooh, that makes my blood boil. Nice enough lad, but just because we're women, thinks we know nothing about wine. Thinks I don't know my arse from my elbow. Well
	I've got news for him. Right, let's have a gander at this here menu.
VERONICA	Yes. Quite. Let's.

Fade as the women bury themselves in the menus

SCENE 5 11pm Friday. Kate and Claire standing at the bar, Claire signalling to Józef

CLAIRE JÓZEF CLAIRE JÓZEF CLAIRE JÓZEF CLAIRE JÓZEF KATE JÓZEF	 What you having? More fizz? Yeah? Two glasses of fizz, please. Two glasses fizz? You do sell it by the glass? You want a glass? Two glasses. Two glasses. (Explaining) We don't want a whole bottle. No bottle So, two glasses of fizz, yes? Sorry. What is this fizz? Champagne? Ah! Champagne, yes, of course. I am not sorry. Two glasses yes
KATE CLAIRE KATE CLAIRE	(He goes) Sweet. Fit! Sweet and fit. Kate Pargetter!
KATE CLAIRE KATE CLAIRE	What? I'm only window-shopping. I should hope so. Oh, it's really good to have some time with you. Tactful of Lucy to have an early night.
KATE CLAIRE KATE CLAIRE	Yes. I like her. Not sure she likes me. I think she finds me a bit abrasive. Well, you are. You both are, come to that. Like sandpaper. What have you been saying? I was just asking her about you and her and Cal.
KATE	What about us?

Józef returns

JÓZEF	Two glasses fizz for two lovely ladies. Thank you.
KATE	Thanks.
CLAIRE	You have a long day. What time do you finish?
JÓZEF	Finish? When bar closes.
CLAIRE	So we're keeping you up?
JÓZEF	Is no problem for beautiful ladies.
CLAIRE	Are you allowed to flirt?
JÓZEF	What is 'flirt'?

CLAIRE makes a gesture

JÓZEF CLAIRE	Ah! Of course. Is part of service. We're paying for this?
KATE	Where are you from?
JÓZEF	Konstantynow Lodzki.
KATE	???
JÓZEF	Poland.
KATE	Ah.
JÓZEF	Is near Pabianice. Yes?
KATE	Afraid not.
JÓZEF	You know Lodz? (pronounced Wooj. He spells it out) L.O.D.Z?
CLAIRE	Oh, yes, I do. I've been there on business. Is that how it's pronounced?
JÓZEF	Lodz. Yes.
KATE	You've been there?
CLAIRE	Just a couple of nights.
JÓZEF	Yes? Lodz? Did you like?
CLAIRE	Well, I didn't see that much of it – I don't remember -
JÓZEF	Is shit-hole. I know. Still, one day you know, is called HollyLodz? Is joke – we have little film festival crazy people. Sorry, ladies, I forget, is very rude. Excuse. (He goes)
KATE	Bless him. Should have asked him his name. Do you think he's lonely?
CLAIRE	Doubt it. I bet he has a ball. All these single women.

They sip their drinks

CLAIRE KATE	She doesn't change, your mum, does she? No.
CLAIRE	You two still –
KATE	Yes.
CLAIRE	You OK, sweetie?
KATE	Yes. Yes, thanks. Why wouldn't I be?
CLAIRE	This is all right, isn't it? Knew you'd love it. (Beat) So come on, sweetie.
	Spill.
KATE	What?
CLAIRE	Beans. Spill beans.
KATE	What about?
CLAIRE	Oh, you are such a tease. The man of course. Cal. Sorry I couldn't manage dinner with you guys that time, but – you know, how it is –
	Tokyo called and I was on a plane a couple of hours later.
KATE	Ah, the glamour! London. Tokyo. Lodz!
CLAIRE	Ah, the identical hotel room no matter which city you're in!
KATE	I'm supposed to feel sorry for you?
CLAIRE	No. I wouldn't do it if I didn't enjoy it.
KATE	Nor me.

CLAIRE	You know working for a charity is what most people would really prefer to do?
KATE CLAIRE	Yeah. Instead of earning shedloads of money. Which in my case, despite what anyone tells you, is everything. (She holds up an expensive shoe)
KATE	So I see. Nice. You got anyone?
	The beans were supposed to be yours.
KATE CLAIRE	Have you? Sort of.
KATE	Which means?
CLAIRE	I sort of have and I sort of haven't.
KATE	He's married.
CLAIRE	You got it.
KATE	You work with him.
CLAIRE KATE	Bingo. Cliché. Boring. Is he nice?
CLAIRE	Nice? Nice? Hon, I don't do nice. When have you ever known me do nice? He's let's see charming, amusing, intermittently available, pretty amazing in bed, generous, discreet, and absolutely, totally, irrevocably and eternally committed to his wife and kids. Which suits me fine.
KATE	If he's so committed to his family, how can he -
CLAIRE	He's a lawyer, hon. So am I. Dancing on pin-heads is our bread and butter. OK? Now, your turn.
KATE	What d'you want to know?
CLAIRE	Oh, stop it! How he swept you off your soft southern feet, taught you to love mushy peas and pigeons -
KATE	My mother's put you up to this, hasn't she?
CLAIRE	Your mum?
KATE CLAIRE	You're a crap liar, Claire. I knew this was going to happen. She thinks you've gone over to the dark side. That you're only doing this to spite her.
KATE	Oh, for goodness sake! What did she say? No, don't tell me. She's making the biggest mistake of her life. It won't last. They've nothing in common. Make her see the error of her ways?
CLAIRE	Pretty much. I'm supposed to be the voice of reason.
KATE	You! With your track record?
CLAIRE	Ah, but your mother doesn't know anything about that, does she? To her, I'm still the perfect best friend, with clean knicks and a pony.
KATE	Don't waste your breath, Claire. I'm marrying Cal.
CLAIRE KATE	Thought you probably were. Over her dead body then. Yup. If need be.
CLAIRE	Ooh, Katie. The worm has turned good and proper.
KATE	Well, it's trying to.

CLAIRE Hang in there, babe.

- KATE I thought you were supposed to be on her side. The emissary from HQ.
- CLAIRE I tried. I failed. You would not be moved. Job done. Now everybody's happy. Cheers.
- KATE Cheers. Yes, everybody's happy.

CLAIRE Result.

KATE Except my bloody mother.

Fade

Scene 6. Saturday afternoon. The spa.

A clock on the wall shows 3pm. Throughout this scene which spans an hour the action fades out and up, during which Veronica keeps talking but in the time shifts what she says is unintelligible to us. Veronica is lying face down on a massage couch, covered by a towel, as Jakub, the masseur, works. Soft 'spa' music

JAKUB	All right like this? Only I thought I'd booked the girl - (He begins work on her feet and legs) Yes? I've never had a man well, I'm sure you're yes. And just to say - I'm not keen on small talk. OK?
JAKUB	Yes.
VERONICA JAKUB	I simply want to relax. You know, chill, as the young folk say. Yes?
VERONICA	Oh, and I've got a bit of muscle spasm, well, tightness, just here there. (Her shoulder) Could do with a bit of attention. When you get to it. Here. OK?
JAKUB	Yes.
VERONICA	Good. And you can really get stuck in. You know, plenty of pressure. Really go for it. You won't hurt me. Aaah! (A tender spot) No, no, carry one Mmm That's marvellous. (Beat) Very pleasant, the music. Whales, is it? It's very soothing, isn't it? There's a shop in Maidenhead that

The lights fade down and up, the clock moves forward to 3.15. JAKUB is now working on her lower back

- VERONICA ... Oh this is very relaxing. Just the ticket. Oh, yes. (Beat) Could do with a bit of pampering, to be honest.JAKUB Yes?
- VERONICA That's it. Yes! Yes ... Just hits the spot. Nothing like someone who knows what they're doing. Like you. Nothing like it.
- JAKUB Yes.
- VERONICA Aah! (He stops) No, no, you go ahead. Really give it some ... yes. (He continues) ... Nice to get away, isn't it, sometimes? Not my husband's kind of place anyway. Be bored rigid. Likes to be doing, you know, golf, racing, that sort of thing. I mean, I go from time to time. Ascot, Henley, you know. But it's business mainly. For my husband. Clients, foreigners. You know the kind of thing.

JAKUB Yes.

VERONICA He's in M and A, my husband. Mergers and Acquisitions. He travels a lot. Away this weekend as it happens. Spends half his life in hotels so this would be a bit of a busman's holiday ...

The lights fade down and up, the clock moves forward to 3.30. JAKUB is now working on her upper back

- VERONICA ... Here with my daughter. Hen party. Ghastly term. Conjures up all sorts of ... Well, you know the kind of thing that goes on. One reads about it in the Telegraph. Shocking ... (Beat) Supposed to be getting to know her fiancé's mother. That was rather a shock actually, finding her here. I don't see the necessity. To be frank with you ... I mean, confidentially ... I assume I speak with complete confidence? Yes?
 JAKUB Yes.
- VERONICA Well, we're hardly likely to keep in touch, are we? Afterwards? Apart from the fact that, to be brutally honest, the woman's a ... well, frankly, she's a nightmare. I mean, I get on with pretty much anyone, but she – Audrey – she takes the absolute biscuit. She could talk for England. You probably think I'm exaggerating? I only wish I were ... Ah! Yes, that's it. (Beat) Worst of it is, what's so unfair, she's ... she's completely pulled the wool over my daughter's eyes. Very ... chummy they are. I've barely seen her to talk to so far. My daughter. And if I dare to mention anything ... well! Of course she's backed up all the time by this dreadful Lucy, her new best friend. It's Claire I feel sorry for ...

The lights fade down and up, the clock moves forward to 3.45. JAKUB is downstage holding up the towel to allow Veronica to roll over on to her back. He covers her up, leaving only head and arms uncovered. He works first on her arms then moves to the head of the couch to massage her head. Veronica has her eyes shut

VERONICA ...on top of which, she has the most irritating laugh. The mother-inlaw. Well, mother-in-law-to-be. Laughs at everything. (Beat) Full of herself. You should have seen her last night, in the restaurant. Showing off. ordering the most expensive wines. She'll be laughing on the other side of her face when she gets the bill. (Beat) Works in a nursing home, apparently. Can you imagine? As a carer. I wouldn't want her caring for me. I mean, my husband's mother's in a very nice place – not that she knows that much about it these days if I'm honest - but I'd be horrified if we were paying all this money for her to be looked after by someone like this woman. ... Virtually unintelligible with her 'by gums' and God knows what. Ridiculous. I'm sorry if that makes me sound ... I mean, people are as they are ... (Beat) ... I've had doubts about the boyfriend from the off, to be truthful. Oh, he's nice enough, tries, but I could see, the first time she brought him home, he hadn't a clue. Started challenging my husband about the ethics of his business. I mean, really! Brian was furious. And she's changed too there's no doubt about that. That's down to him. Has to be. I was hoping Katherine ... our only daughter, only child - I was hoping she'd find someone with a bit more – how shall I put this? – a bit more potential, to be frank. Ambition. Well, more like my husband. Oh, I know what people say. Money's not everything. Maybe not but ... she may think it's all very romantic now, you can put up with all sorts of things when you're young, but she likes nice things, Katherine! She's used to them. I'm afraid we've rather spoiled her – well, you do, don't you? Your children? When you can afford it.

JAKUB

Yes.

VERONICA No oil on my head, thank you ... Just a dry massage, And I said to my husband – now you may think this is harsh, but I said to him: she needn't expect us to keep shelling out – I'm sorry if that sounds crude – once she's married. I mean ... that's his responsibility, isn't it? The husband? Callum. (Beat) Oh! That's good. That's very good. (Beat) Of course, I know what it is. Same with all these girls these days. It's the sex. You'd think they'd invented it. Sorry to be so blunt but that's the top and bottom of it. Sex. Never mind love. They have all these expectations these days. It's everywhere. Adverts, television, magazines. You can't open the paper without it being shoved down your throat. Oral sex. Orgasms. Sex into your 60s. It's ... not realistic.

JAKUB finishes the massage, pulls the towel up to her neck, and silently leaves the room during the following VERONICA It doesn't last, does it? After all, how can it? You get older. Your body's not so ... well, that's life, isn't it? A fact of life. You have to face it. It's nobody's fault. You can't blame someone for ... well, can you? I mean, that's not fair ... Expecting things to ... not after all those years ... still expecting ... at our age. That's just unreasonable, isn't it? But men, some men, they don't understand ... things just ...they all just ... fall away ...Don't they? Just ... fall away... eventually ... (She opens her eyes, looks around, moving only her head) ... Hello? Excuse me? Are you there? Is there anybody there? Hello?

Fade

Scene 7 Saturday 4.15 pm: The spa lounge.

Audrey is on a step machine in aerobic gear. To one side, a lounger. She is on the phone as she exercises

AUDREY I'm exercising, you daft happorth. What did you think I was doing? ... Steady! ... Steps. I'm doing steps. 'Course I'm out of breath ... No, that was this morning, the massage. ... How many more times? ... Ayurveda. Are you deaf? What's the point of spelling it? It'll mean the square root of bugger all to you, whatever it's called. ... listen, they use these essential oils ... ESSENTIAL ... look, turn the bloody telly off and then you'll be able to hear ... right, now. They use these oils ... that's right, oils ... to suit your dosha. Cheeky! Your dosha ... don't be filthy ... d'you want to know or don't you? ... Mind, my hair's ruined ... it's the oil ... I'm off for a sauna after this. With Kate. She's grand ... yes. Veronica? ... I'll tell you when I get back. It's exhausting, this is. ... yeah, yeah ... what? ... what do you think you wear in a sauna? ... you mucky bugger! ... Patrick Moloney, you should be ashamed ... (she laughs) all right, love ... yes, yes, ... I'll tell her ... you take care now ... see you tomorrow ... I will, I will. Love you too. 'Bye. Oh, and use the coasters or I'll have your guts for garters!

Kate comes through in a white towelling robe

KATE AUDREY KATE	Look at you! Pat sends his love. Is he all right? All on his own.
AUDREY	He's some mates coming round later for a barbie. Don't you worry about him. What have you had?
KATE AUDREY	Hot stones. Good?
KATE	(Flopping on to the lounger) Hot. I don't know how you have the energy.
AUDREY	Just been trying to explain that Ayurveda thingy to Pat. Hadn't a clue what I was on about. How's Cal?
KATE	Feeling a bit sorry for himself. Sounds like they're all pretty hung over. Doesn't bode well for this evening.
AUDREY	Oh! That buggy thing. They must be barmy. Their brains'll be scrambled.
KATE	I said to him, just be careful. You know what Aidan and the others are like.
AUDREY	Oh yes, Mr Clumsy. If there's anything to break or trip over, our Aidan will find it. Mind, he had a good talking to before I left. He's me to

KATE AUDREY KATE AUDREY KATE AUDREY	 answer to if he doesn't look after his brother. Right, I'm done for the day. (Stepping off the machine and starting to stretch) I thought we were going for a sauna. I meant exercise. Sauna's not exercise, is it? Isn't it? What a shame. Did you swim this morning? Meant to. Lucy did. Of course. I wish I had your willpower, It's not willpower, Katie love. Not at my age. It's desperation. I don't do this, I end up with my baps round my ankles.
Kate laughs
AUDREY	You may laugh, young lady. Your time will come. Anno domini and gravity, they're right buggers.
KATE	Pat's a lucky man.
AUDREY	I don't put myself through all this for Pat! I do it for myself. You don't want to spend your life trying to please other people, love.
KATE	You having fun?
AUDREY	Fun? Well now, to tell the truth
KATE	Oh, Audrey if it's about Mummy -
AUDREY	Massages, champagne, waited on hand and foot, it's terrible, is this. Wouldn't wish it on my worst enemy.
KATE	Right.
AUDREY	What about your Mum, though, love? Is she?
KATE	Having fun? Who knows? As much as she ever does, I suppose. Anyway, we off for our sauna?
AUDREY	Let me shower first or there'll be complaints. You just lie there for a bit. I'll not be long.

KATE Oooh, you really should try the stones. So relaxing ...

Kate settles down and closes her eyes. Audrey looks her for a moment, deciding. Finally …

AUDREY	Kate, love.
KATE	Mmm
AUDREY	About your Mum
KATE	Oh, no, what she been saying now?

END OF SAMPLE SCRIPT, CONTACT NODA FOR FULL VERSION